

RECEPTIONS IN THE PERIOD ROOMS AND KRALINGEN HALL

The Schielandshuis is the venue in Rotterdam where people come to be inspired and informed. This is the “House of the City”, where partners from all over the Rotterdam region come together to do business, to work or to meet up. The brasserie, the city garden, and flex work spaces are all available for this purpose.

What makes this building unique is its historic significance. Built in 1665, functioning as city-palace, and visited by notable historical figures such as Napoleon and Tsar Alexander, it represents an important part of Rotterdam’s long history.

The rooms available for hire include the “Period Rooms”: historic splendour, equipped with modern furniture and modern technology. In addition, we offer the “Kralingen Hall” a state of the art meeting room

Brasserie Schielandshuis offers your extensive lunch, snacks or dinner. The Brasserie itself is also available for receptions and meetings.

The historic elements mixed with modern furnishings do justice to one of the most modern historical cities in Europe.

All rooms are for hire for the reception of groups or networking meetings in the context of the advancement or promotion of Rotterdam.

Due to the museum-layout of the Period Rooms there are strict rules for the hire of these rooms. The walls of the Period Rooms should be kept at one metre distance at all times. Moreover, no elements can be placed in the room that radiate heat and/or exude humidity. We are happy to explain these and other terms and conditions during the discussion of the booking application.
